

	Talent Pool	Handshake
Homepage	Shows a spotlight artist as soon as you go on the site. Also shows recent work from other students/artists.	Has a hub that contains many slots with available job opportunities displayed, as well as upcoming events and internships
Log in	Uses SSO to authenticate student's account. After logging in, the site will direct you to your account and profile settings.	Uses SSO to authenticate student's account credentials
Profile	Shows profile image, name, skill, bio, specialties, what you are available for (freelance, collab.ect.), featured work, and links.	Profile contains picture, year, GPA, major, education, work experience with option to add resume, organization involvement, projects you're working on, relevant courses you're taking, and an option to add documents.
Messages	There is a small contact button at the top right corner of the profile. When clicked it will redirect to the contact page of the individual you want to contact. You check your affiliation, write your name, write your email (required), and then writing your message. It also gives you the option to send or reset the message.	Main hub remains on the page, only center of the page changes. Message is displayed on right side which instantly gives the option to reply. On the left side it displays an inbox with all the other messages that are easily accessible.
Exploration	Exploration seems limited. You can only search and the search doesn't even go to a new page. It only shows 10 results of whatever you look up.	The homepage is populated by job offers, internships, and sometimes upcoming events
Filtering	There really is no way to filter. You just have to know what to look up. You can search up names, skills, keywords, role, specialty, ect.	Homepage does not have this feature, but if you edit your Career Interest it's supposed act as a filter.
Displaying work	You can upload your media but the space and organization is not enough if you want to show a collection.	Allows the option to add social links to profile. Mostly like portfolio and whatever else you feel is appropriate
Opportunities	I think that talent pool is more for collaboration than finding jobs. There isn't enough to where a student can find an internship or a job. Search is very limited and does not give guidance.	Jobs and internships always load on homepage and can be scrolled through for a while depending on "filter options"
Application page	N/A	This page keeps you informed on all the jobs you applied for and also any documentation that you have submitted that supplements your applications.

	Talent Pool	Handshake
Homepage	Shows a spotlight artist as soon as you go on the site. Also shows recent work from other students/artists.	Has a hub that contains many slots with available job opportunities displayed, as well as upcoming events and internships
Search	When you search, wherever you are on the site, the results will show up at the top and not in a new page. When clicking on a search result, it will open to a new tab	